ITX Hired by Town of Milliken, CO

Fort Collins, Colorado, June 1, 2009 – Information Technology Experts, Inc. (ITX) is pleased to announce today that through a competitive bid process, the team of ITX, H&H Data Services, and Matrix Display Systems has been chosen by the Town of Milliken, Colorado to design and construct a communications-data system for the Town’s new police station and meeting house.

ITX will manage the project team that will provide thirteen different requirements including: IP telephony, mobile devices, building access control, cabling, AV, and fiber optic connections.

“We’re excited to partner with the ITX team and get this project underway,” said Jim Burack, Town Administrator and Police Chief “town officials are ready for our citizens to have a first-class police facility and a community meeting venue to host a variety of functions.”
